

I believe it would be a mistake to grant/approve this move.
I don't like the idea of calling the internet an "information service, it is much, much more. E-mail shouldn't be classified as information, but rather as communication. Thank you.